The hearing of protests against the assessment for the improvement on Canada boulevard was called, and Mr. C. D. No other protestants appeared. Trustee Williams made a motion which was adopted that when the Board adjourn it be to meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, November 18. Trustee Tower made a motion which was adopted, that the hearing in the Canada boulevard case be continued until 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening next.

VIEWS OF GARDENS

PROF. MAXWELL OF LOS ANGELES WILL SHOW STEREOPTICON PICTURES NOV. 18

Professor George Maxwell, who is to lecture on Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at 8 o'clock, in the High School, is a well-known writer, lecturer and educator. He is author of a book entitled: "The Patriotism of Peace," which has been hailed with enthusiasm by thinking people. As Executive Director of the National Reclamation Association he is known throughout the State of California. Mr. Maxwell is also editor of Rural Southern California, the horticultural and agricultural department recently inaugurated by the Tribune-Express. He advocates the building of better boys and girls by encouraging them in the pursuit of outdoor, healthy, wholesome, thrifty occupations; at one school in Los Angeles he has created a corps of boys known as the Garden Soldiers. The stereopticon views, combined with his forceful manner and optimistic personality, will indeed be a treat; every man and woman in Glendale should avail themselves of this opportunity, which has been provided by the Glendale Garden Society without any expense whatsoever to the public.

The following are some of the paid-up members of the Glendale Garden Society: Mrs. J. B. Nichols, L. Edwards, Mrs. J. Ewins, Mrs. E. Blackford, F. H. Lowe, Mrs. C. E. McPeak, J. C. The chapters on Back-Yard Problems, and Out-of-Door Living Rooms, will afford the reader a delightful half-hour. Spend 30 minutes this week at Headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway, browsing over this really charming volume. Become a member of the society for the modest sum of two bits, and boost for the awakening of civic, horticultural and floricultural enthusiasm in Glendale.

FOR BENEFIT OF RED CROSS

Saturday afternoon last Miss Ina Whitaker entertained a party of invited guests at an afternoon tea, at the home of her mother and herself on East Ninth street. The rooms were tastefully and appropriately decorated and over the entrance the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack were gracefully draped. The reception was given for the benefit of the British Red Cross society and to arouse interest in the cause. Mrs. Potts of Burbank was present as organizer for the society and spoke enthusiastically upon the subject, telling of the good work done by the Los Angeles organization and emphasizing the terrible need for its ministrations in the hospitals and on the battlefields of Europe. Mrs. Potts expressed the hope of organizing a strong branch of the society in Glendale.

Miss Whitaker spoke of the Red Cross auction sale held in London, which it was her privilege to attend a few weeks ago, telling of the rare and almost priceless treasures which the wealthy and titled people of London had contributed to the cause, many of them being sold over and over again to swell the fund for the good work. Letters of unusual interest were read from Belgian soldiers in the trenches and extracts from a diary kept by one of the Australian contingent sent over from that country in the great fleet of troop ships at the beginning of the war.

Mrs. Gertrude Norman of Los Angeles rendered a very enjoyable vocal number and spoke of the Red Cross work. The hostess was assisted in the entertainment of the guests, particularly in the serving of refreshments, by Mrs. R. E. Whitaker. Among those present were the following: Mrs. and Miss Potts, Rev. and Mrs. George Eley, Rev. Irving S. Mills, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. W. H. Ward, Miss Shaw, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. J. C. Sherer.

Miss Whitaker will be very glad to give to all inquirers any information as to the formation of a Red Cross society in Glendale and it is hoped that an effective branch of this very useful society may be formed here.

RULES FOR HOLIDAYS

PRINCIPAL WHITE EXPLAINS WHY SCHOOLS WERE CLOSED ON SAN FRANCISCO DAY

Editor Glendale Evening News:

About ten days ago I read an editorial in your paper which seemed to indicate that there had come to your attention certain criticisms of the local school board on account of the closing of the schools on Tuesday, Nov. 2, San Francisco Day at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. In the first place let me say that the local school board is not in any way responsible for the closing of the schools on that day. The day was proclaimed a holiday by the governor of the state. This fact placed a legal obligation on the local board to close the schools. They had no choice in the matter and had they kept the schools open they would have been law breakers.

In the state of California school holidays are of three kinds, those prescribed by statute, those proclaimed by the president of the United States or by the governor of the state, and those declared by the local board. The law reads as follows: "The public schools of this state shall close on Saturday, Sunday, the first day of January, the thirtieth day of May, the fourth day of July, the twenty-fifth day of December and on every day appointed by the president of the United States or the governor of this state for a public fast, thanksgiving or holiday. Said public schools shall continue in session on all other legal holidays and shall hold proper exercises commemorating the day. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power to declare a holiday in the public schools under their jurisdiction when good reasons exist therefor."

In another place the law provides that each county shall hold an annual institute lasting one week, that attendance on such institute shall be compulsory and that the teachers shall be paid their salaries for the time.

Of the holidays granted so far this year the local board is responsible for just one, yesterday, Liberty Bell day. This holiday was granted in order that the children might all have the opportunity to visit Los Angeles and see the Liberty Bell, and while the bell was to be there only in the morning it did not seem probable that the children would be able to get back in time for the afternoon session so the whole day was declared a holiday.

It is customary for the board to declare a holiday on the Friday following Thanksgiving day and I presume they will do so this year.

The board has decided to close the schools for the Christmas vacation at 3 p. m. on Thursday, Dec. 23 and to open again on Monday, January 3. After that there will be very few holidays except the week of vacation in the spring.

I hope that every one who is interested in the schools will feel free at any time to call me up or visit me at my office whenever they want information on any subject pertaining to school affairs.

RICHARDSON D. WHITE,
Supervising Principal Glendale City Schools.

FOR COMING BUDS AND BEAUX

Mrs. John Allen Legge, nee Miss Emma Pulliam, was the supposed honored guest at a beautifully appointed birthday celebration given by her sister, Miss Myrtle Pulliam, at the C. O. Pulliam home on Monday afternoon, but in reality coming "buds and beaux" were, for all decorations and favors suggested the fact.

There was Mrs. Charles Shattuck with little Miss Gwendolyn, just 7 weeks old, Mrs. Theodore Peirce and daughter Patricia, a young lady of 9 months; Mrs. John Allen Legge and son John Allen Legge, Jr., who celebrated his 8th week birthday on Sunday, and Mrs. James Luther Flint with Master Rhinard Wells Flint, just 12 weeks old on Thanksgiving Day.

An artistic mound of Cecil Bruner roses adorned the table center from which ran across the lace cloth to the places streamers of pink satin ribbon, topped off with an Enchantress rosebud. Wee pink "baby" place cards bearing names of little ones present perched saucily upon the rims of the water glasses marking places for the mothers. After partaking of an elaborate repast the guests were allowed to pick up the beautiful single rose. As the blossoms were lifted the centerpiece fell apart, disclosing at the end of each ribbon a pair of dainty silk mittens for each little guest of the afternoon.

Assisting Miss Pulliam were her mother, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, grandmother, Mrs. E. D. Pulliam, and Miss Anna Woodbury.

NEW GROCERY TO OPEN

H. G. CHAFFEE STORE BEGINS BUSINESS WEDNESDAY ON "BASKET" PRINCIPLE

When H. G. Chaffee started his "basket" store in Pasadena he set going a style of doing business that has resulted in his acquisition of 17 stores of similar character in different centers in this vicinity. The latest of these is the store that will be opened in Glendale Wednesday, at 408 S. Brand boulevard, by the H. G. Chaffee company.

The H. G. Chaffee company claims the distinction of having been the first to start in the "basket" store business. This system is based entirely on "cash" and has no delivery. The principle is that by saving on delivery the store is able to give its customers lower prices and further that by reason of its chain of 17 stores it is able to purchase in carloads and thus get advantage of lower wholesale prices. The customer gets advantage of these low rates.

There have been imitators of these stores in various parts of the state and these too have prospered. The H. G. Chaffee stores are located, three in Pasadena, 3 in Los Angeles, 2 in South Pasadena, 2 in Alhambra, and others in Azusa, Covina, Monrovia, Lamanda Park and now in Glendale. Everything in these stores is up-to-date. The Glendale store is fitted up with a fine refrigerating counter for meats and fish. The store is spacious and is being fitted up and stocked in accordance with the most modern ideas.

Mr. Chambers, the manager of the new store, is courteous and experienced. He is assisted by a competent staff of experienced clerks, who will do all in their power to make it pleasant for trading customers.

SHAKESPEARE SECTION

Exceedingly interesting was the meeting of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which, as is the habit of the members, meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street, on the afternoon of November 15, at 2 o'clock. The lesson perused was the third act of "Antony and Cleopatra." Special points were brought out by means of questions and answers. Mrs. Mazie Forman Garrett, instructor of this club, also the Cosmos club of Los Angeles and Alhambra Woman's club, beside having a large private class of her own in Hollywood, prepared questions on the afternoon's lesson, giving one question to each member to answer. Mrs. Garrett will open the class at the next meeting, December 6, at one o'clock, to assist members in making up lost work of one, two or more lessons.

CLUB RECEPTION

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, desires as many members of the club as possible to attend a reception to be given Wednesday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock, at the Friday Morning clubhouse, Los Angeles. The reception is to be given by the district board, in honor of Mrs. E. Knight, president of the California State Federation, and Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, California delegate for the National Presidency of Women's clubs. Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoeneman, district chairman of the Federation Emblem, assisted by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, is in charge of one of the tea tables. Through Mrs. Jones Mrs. Schoeneman extends a cordial invitation to all Glendale ladies to have tea at her table.

RECIPROCITY TEA

Daughters of the American Revolution in Southern California will have a very pleasant reunion at a general Reciprocity Tea, to be given in the Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles. Members of the local Gen. R. C. Gridley chapter can obtain all information about the tea by communicating with Mrs. T. W. Preston, 725 Adams street. One of the features of the reciprocity tea will be an address by Dr. Margaret Shallenberger, on the subject of "Immigration."

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

The Glendale Shakespeare club will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, 1550 Myrtle avenue, Wednesday, Nov. 17, at 1:30 p. m. ## MEXICO'S PRESENT CONDITION

Five years of revolution has laid Mexico prostrate in the dust. Revolutionary armies have marched and countermarched throughout the length and breadth of the land. The richest country from a mineral standpoint in the world, Mexico finds itself the poorest at the present moment. The marvelous mines of Sonora and other provinces are for the most part idle. American capital that was so freely poured into the land has been confiscated and the mines shut down except where futile attempts are being made by Villistas and Carranzistas to work them.

In the south the wonderfully rich oil fields have been badly hurt by the raidings of the different parties and that immense source of wealth has been stopped at the fountainhead. It is true that the oil business has to a certain extent been resumed; but the lack of a stable government has curtailed the trade to a great extent.

Meantime the sowing of crops has ceased in great part. The greater part of the male population is in one or other of the various armies—Villa's, Carranza's, Zapata's. It is easier to fight and raid the country than to work. The fields therefore lie idle and the miserable peons are starving.

At one time it seemed as though Villa and Carranza would agree. Even now it must be remembered that more than one-half the tales told about either of these two generals is absolutely false, originating either in the United States, from agents of those who desire to see the annexation of Mexico, or in Mexico with those who desire to see the downfall of Villa. A short time ago Villa was a high-minded patriot; now he is stigmatized as a bloody-minded villain. It is possible that his character can have changed so greatly within a very few months.

As a matter of fact the breach between Carranza and Villa began with jealousy, rivalry and mistrust. In August, 1914, Villa revolted against Carranza shortly after that leader's entry into Mexico City. Gen. Obregon supported Carranza; Gen. Angeles aided Villa. Villa wanted Carranza to call elections, name a cabinet and become provisional president. Carranza refused as that would have disqualified him for running for the real presidency.

Then came the Aguas Calientes convention which proclaimed the new Conventionalist government with Gutierrez as provisional president. The Villista armies then captured Mexico City. From that time onward Villa's power has failed. Gutierrez deserted him and left Mexico City with a large body of troops.

Since that time Obregon, who is something of a military genius, has built up Carranza's army and has gradually driven Villa into the northern province, where he was almost shoved across the American line. Villa, notwithstanding the fact that he was not able to take Aguas Calientes, is not absolutely defeated yet and in a kaleidoscope government like that of Mexico may have his turn some day again.

Naturally Carranza has the best of it at present. The United States is backing him and permitting him to get all the munitions and supplies he desires. However, famine is sweeping the country and the condition of the wretched non-combatant class is as bad as was that of the Cubans just before the Spanish-American war. If something is not done speedily for their relief it will matter little to the greater part of them whether Carranza or Villa reigns in Mexico City.

ALASKAN DOGS AT THE FRONT

Those who have lived in the northern section of Alaska, or for that matter in any part of that vast country, have heard of "Scotty" Allen. Scotty is one of the best-known characters in the Far North. His home is in Nome, where he has lived ever since the opening of that region in 1900. Scotty is an out-doors man and an athlete of some quality. In the indoor footraces of 1906 Scotty distinguished himself by taking second prize in the 50-mile race.

At that time Scotty was 42 years of age. His great competitor was Wada, a little light-footed Japanese hero, who had frequently run as far as 70 miles in a day. Wada was a 'rickshaw man and as tough and limber as a steel spring. He was also little more than half Scotty Allen's age, so that Scotty's race was really a very wonderful performance.

Scotty has since that time frequently made the famous race from Nome to Candle and back—more than 400 miles, with his dog team, sometimes coming in second, sometimes first. The team of dogs with which he has made these records is a valuable malamute team, belong jointly to himself and Mrs. Darling of Berkeley.

Further adventure awaits Scotty Allen, who has just been hired by the French government to do scouting with his dogs during the winter in the Vosges mountains. This will be an exciting piece of work and will probably be well paid. The Alaska malamute dog, which is half wolf, is well adapted for this kind of work. He is swift and tireless. He will travel forty miles a day with a load of 200 pounds and will require no food during his performance. At night when his destination is reached he will get a full meal of fish and rice and will get nothing more till the next night. On this scanty diet he does wonderful work and keeps in excellent health.

It is not possible to feed those Alaska malamutes meat of any kind. Flesh makes them savage. They are only one generation from the wolf anyway and when fed on flesh have been known to turn on their master and tear him to pieces. They are reliable and steady under the hardest work and with an experienced veteran like Scotty Allen urging them to "mush on" these Alaskan dogs should be heard from amid the hard fighting in the Vosges mountains. There among the Vosges peasants Scotty will meet with a race as hardy as himself. The same race that when all France lay prostrate at the feet of the Prussians in 1871 bade defiance to the foe and kept up a brave fight among their native steeples.

The person who preaches religion, but who is slow in putting what he preaches into practice, doesn't put much life into the religion he preaches. In religion one must practice what he or she preaches. That is religion.

ADDRESS AT M. E. CHURCH

When Benjamin F. Pearson of the Southern California Edison company came forward to address the opening meeting of the "Win My Chum" services, which are being held this week at the First M. E. Church, he was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience. The speaker brought a message at once direct, keen and forceful. His years of work in missions, jails and penitentiaries have given him large sympathy and wide vision.

Mr. Pearson believes in a living Christianity. In his address he assailed "dress parade religion." He said: "The time is past when you can put that stuff over. The religion of Jesus Christ is to be known by the way it is lived. Your creeds, your theologies, your rituals never made a saint. Your long-haired fellow who thinks he must dress and allow his hair and beard to grow like some picture he saw of the Christ may be full of hypocrisy."

Mr. Pearson made a strong plea for the attendance of Christians at the services of the church. He showed that their influence for good and for God is discounted by their lack of attendance on the church services and their lack of positive Christian living. The service evoked great interest. The speaker for this evening will be Prof. T. C. Knoles of the University of Southern California, a well-known, wide-awake and forceful speaker. Service at 7:30 p. m.

TO LESSEN ACCIDENTS

OFFICIAL FIGURES SHOW 214,000 KILLED ON STEAM RAILROADS IN 25 YEARS

There is no doubt that more care is necessary on the part of the public in the matter of walking on railroad tracks. The number of people killed at railroad crossings does not grow less. Of course people have no right on railway tracks. At the same time railways should be compelled to provide safe crossings for the public. There is, however, much truth in the following letter sent to the Spokane Spokesman Review by a railroad engineer's wife:

"I would like to speak a few words on safety to women and mothers in particular. I wish it were in my power to be able to make all children realize the danger of walking on or crossing railroad tracks when there is a train coming. As the wife of an engineer I have ways of knowing this better than wives of men in other lines of work. It is impossible to stop a heavy passenger or freight train in time to save you if you are on a track a few feet in front of a moving train. On a down grade or slippery rails it is more dangerous than on a level or dry track. I feel sure the public does not realize the horror an engineer feels when he cannot stop his train in time to avoid running over some one, especially a child. Try to think how you would feel if his place. It is much worse than sickness. The railroad companies are doing their best to protect you, as you would know could you see the orders they give their men if there is any danger ahead to lose all time necessary to insure safety, and the railroads like to be on time. The men try their best to safeguard you, but the safest way for us all is to stay off the tracks whenever possible."

—Mrs. E. B. Sharp, Spokane.

Why is it that people will not stop and look before crossing a railroad track? Why is it that accident after accident occurs on crossings where there is a clear view of the track in both directions? Why is it that parents will allow their children to play on the railroad right of way and consider themselves abused if the company tries to keep them off?

It is impossible to answer the above questions except to say that the average person is simply careless and pays no attention to warnings. Figures just published by officials of American railways show that 214,000 people have been killed on the railroads of the United States in the last 25 years and that of this number 113,480 or over 53 per cent were trespassers.

The railroads are using every means possible to obviate these accidents, but with the ever-increasing traffic on the roads and crossings it has become imperative that the public generally be more careful.

It's a strange thing to have to urge people to protect themselves from being killed by their own foolish acts, but that is exactly what has to be done.

Look out for the crossings and keep off the private right of way and bridges of railroads.

Panned Potatoes

Cut cold boiled potatoes into quarter-inch slices; dredge lightly with flour and fry in pan with a little butter. When light brown, heap on side of pan; let stand a few minutes, then loosen with a knife and turn out on a platter in much the same way that an omelet is taken out. Sprinkle with salt and serve at once.

Hashed Brown Potatoes

Cut cold boiled potatoes into small pieces (2 cupsful), season with salt and pepper, cook 3 minutes in one-third cup bacon drippings, stirring constantly. Let stand a few seconds to brown underneath; fold like an omelet, and serve on a hot platter.

The Glendale Mill makes Cedar Chests to order; any style; any size; for less than Eastern firms can ship the same chest here.

Last year the Glendale people who ordered them for Xmas gifts were more than pleased.

Not only do these Cedar Chests make acceptable gifts, but if 100 were ordered by Glendale people in the next month, more home labor could be employed at the Glendale Mill.

More can often be gained by supporting industries already established than in securing new ones for a community.

VISITORS HONORED

In compliment to her sister, Mrs. Mollie Oxnard, and Mrs. B. Bensel, both visitors from Oxnard, Cal., Mrs. Harry Neel entertained at luncheon Thursday, Nov. 11, at her home on 1473 West Third street. Beautiful pink chrysanthemums and ferns added a touch of color to the rooms and the dainty hand adorned place cards marked covers for the honorees, Mrs. Gordan Neel, Mrs. Ed. Lynch and their gracious hostess.

TROPICO

"Twin Pines," the beautiful home of Mrs. J. E. Bahrenberg on West Park avenue, was most elaborately decorated when Mrs. Bahrenberg extended gracious hospitality to Miss Edith McConnell of Los Angeles, who entertained a coterie of her school friends at "Twin Pines." Miss McConnell, who is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. W. F. McConnell of Berkeley, is spending the winter with her paternal grandmother, Mrs. William McConnell of Los Angeles, and attending the Polytechnic High, from which she will be graduated in June.

The merry party of light-hearted, happy boys and girls from Polytechnic High, Manual Arts and Los Angeles High motored to "Twin Pines" and were met by Mrs. Bahrenberg and Miss Marjorie Imler, the latter a student in Glendale High. Dancing was one of the enjoyable features of the evening. Mr. Harold Southwick of Los Angeles furnishing the music. Blue and gold were the color schemes and many Polytechnic High pennants were arranged throughout the large and spacious rooms. The same color scheme was very effective in the dainty refreshments that were served at the close of the evening's festivities. Miss McConnell's guests included Miss Regina Meyer, Miss Dorothy Shafer, Miss Margaret Kelley, Miss Louise Hamilton, Miss Alice Edward, Miss Henrietta McArthur, Miss Mildred Ellingwood and Miss Marjorie Imler; Messrs. William Ennis, Merle Weaver, Frank Raymond, Bob McKenzie, Frank McClaren, Vincent McConnell, Kenneth Lipton and Jack Hunsucker.

There will be an interesting meeting of the Tropic Parent-Teacher association Wednesday, tomorrow, afternoon, which will be held at the Cerritos school building and at which Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore, the recently elected president, will preside. A musical program will be one of the pleasant features of the afternoon, but the most important number on the program will be the talk by Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson of Glendale. This interesting speaker will give many useful suggestions and aid the local association in a very helpful manner. Every mother, as well as every patron, of the school should be present. The meeting is called for three o'clock.

Of much interest will be the second monthly meeting of the Tropic Thursday club, which will be held in G. A. R. hall Thursday afternoon, Nov. 18. Mrs. Haines W. Reed, Pacific Coast Press chairman of General Federation of Woman's clubs, will give an address on "The Club Megaphone." Hostesses for the afternoon will include Mrs. E. F. Tholen, Mrs. H. P. Goodwin, Mrs. E. Leslie Eames and Mrs. Francis Moore. Mr. and Mrs. C. ### EXTENDING VOICE

Wireless telephony means that the billion and a half people living on this planet have been virtually gathered into one room where they can listen to one man's voice. The human race has snuggled together like a family about a fireside on a cold evening and can chat comfortably with one another. When print became popular it was said that the human voice had lost its power. But, we see, on the contrary, that its range has been extended indefinitely. The vibrations of the air expelled from the mouth, too faint to be felt and speedily quenched, can be magnified and borne by the waves of the frictionless ether to the ends of the earth, there to be reconverted into audibility. The sound passes through the silence as the rays of the sun can pass through a lens of ice and set a piece of wood on fire.—New York Independent.

"A LIGHTNING STEAL"

If you want to know just how quickly an auto thief can make a "get-away" ask Mr. Frank Collings of South Central avenue, Glendale, who is minus a handsome new 1916 Hudson touring car since Saturday evening. The Collings and party of Los Angeles friends had dined at a down-town cafe, later attending the performance at Clune's Auditorium, leaving the Hudson parked in front of the theatre on the park side. The merry-makers had left the theatre in the usual "party straggling" way, Mr. Collings going over to the car to prepare for starting unlocked the machine, and looking about saw part of his guests standing about ten feet away chatting and awaiting the arrival of the laggards. About this time the owner decided he wanted an evening paper and on the impulse dashed across the street, obtaining one. You know how long it takes for a man to buy a paper when in a hurry? Upon his return to the old stand Mr. Collings discovered to his extreme astonishment that during his temporary absence some culprit had made away with his prize. At time of writing nothing had been heard, although Los Angeles police have the licensed number and every effort is being made to restore the property to its rightful owner.

FALSE ECONOMY

We all know the story of the woman who gave the poor child some stale bread and sent her home to tell her mother if she would add a couple of eggs, sugar, a cup of raising, some flour, a quart of milk, etc., and would bake it in a slow oven she would have a most delicious bread putting. We are inclined to laugh at the story, but similar stories are enacted in many homes. Many housekeepers believe that economy is entirely a matter of saving money and that if the affairs of the household are administered by them with this end in view they have every reason to be perfectly satisfied with their achievement. But there is a false economy as well as a true one. Take the question of providing meals. Most women feel that after each meal there should be sufficient left over to help out the next, believing this to be an economy. But this more often than not is a mistake. Only when food left over can be presented again with less trouble and expense than the ingredients necessary for a new dish, and as appetizing as the freshly prepared, can it be said to be an economy.—Fresno Republican.

Electric starting and lighting	Full streamline body
Left-hand drive, center control	Deep divan upholstery
35 horsepower motor	Tires, 33 by 4 inches, non-skid in rear
High-tension magneto ignition	Demountable rims (one extra rim)

THE long, low streamline body is unmarred by angles or projections. From the rounded edge of the radiator to the full curved back, there is not a break in the lines. The hood slopes gently upward and blends into the beautifully curved cowl. The doors are flush, with hinges concealed and handles inside. The fenders are long and sweeping in their curves, with gracefully rounded surfaces. The running boards are clean and free from obstructions, the storage battery concealed, the tire-carriers placed at the rear. The windshield is built-in, and conforms to the curve of the cowl—a part of the car itself, not an apparent afterthought.

The car is superbly finished in a rich, deep Brewster green, delicately striped with pure ivory white, and set off in pleasing contrast by black enameled radiator, fenders and running board shield.

WITH A LITTLE TWIST	A TOAST OF THE RED NOSE	THE JITNEY
Teacher—When little George Washington's father forgave him for cutting down the cherry tree what lesson did it teach?	They say it costs too much to live; But slush! it costs to die. Let's pay our bills, then, with a smile. It helps us naught to cry. And while we live, why let's live well. And if it costs, why what—what's the diff!	Take a little piece of tin and a little piece of board; Put the two together, and you will have a little ford. Then to have a little jitney, you paint a little sign.

SCORES SEPARATE ALIMONY

"Long time alimony" has fallen under the ban of Judge Peter Shields of Sacramento county. He says "A woman would be better off morally and physically if she could take care of herself instead of depending upon her divorced husband indefinitely for support." He also said he was getting tired of the job of trying to make small salaries, not sufficient to maintain one home, stretch over two.

ASHES AS A FERTILIZER

The farmer who burns wood for heating and cooking should carefully store the ashes and not permit them to leach, as they have a peculiar fertilizing value. They not only contain potash and phosphoric acid in appreciable amounts, but also contain magnesia and lime, and when applied to the land they also act indirectly to increase the available nitrogen content of organic matter in the soil.

Ordinary house ashes contain on the average about 8 or 9 per cent of potash and 2 per cent of phosphoric acid. Investigators have considered that there is enough potash and phosphoric acid in a bushel of ashes to make it worth 20 or 25 cents. Besides that, some 10 or 15 cents additional might be allowed for the "alkali power" of the ashes. This power is that which enables ashes to rot weeds and to ferment peat. The potash content of ashes will be lost if they are permitted to leach, and care should be taken to store them in a dry place.

Wood ashes may be profitably applied as a top dressing to grass land and to pastures, where they will encourage the growth of clover and the better kinds of grasses, which will then crowd out inferior kinds and weeds. Wood ashes also may be used for corn and roots. Because of their lime content they are not so good for potatoes, although sometimes used for this crop.

Ashes from hardwoods (deciduous trees) are richer in both phosphorus and potash than those from pines and other softwoods (conifers). The ashes of twigs (faggots, for example) are worth more for agricultural purposes than the ashes of heartwood taken from the middle of an old tree. In general, the smaller and younger the wood burned the better the ashes. The ashes of coal do not contain enough potash to make them valuable in this connection.

The hulls of cotton seed, according to specialists, yield ashes which contain from 18 to 30 per cent of potash and from 5 to 10 per cent of phosphoric acid. Cotton-hull ashes therefore as a fertilizer are much more concentrated than ordinary wood ashes. As a matter of fact, in the opinion of some investigators, the ashes from cottonseed hulls contain such a large proportion of potash that they might do considerable harm to certain crops if they were used in large quantities.

These ashes have been used with advantage for manuring tobacco, and have in times past brought as much as $35 or $40 a ton in New England. One objection to their use is that they vary widely in composition. At the present time, however, the hulls are used for feed to such an extent that it is difficult to secure their ashes for fertilizing purposes.

Creamed Potatoes

There are several different ways in which creamed potatoes may be prepared. (1) Freshly boiled or cold boiled potatoes may be cut into small cubes and served heated in cream sauce. (2) Wash, pare and cut potatoes into small cubes. Put into frying pan with a few slices of onion cut up very fine, and parboil 10 minutes. Pour off water. Add one tablespoon butter, seasoning of salt and pepper, and milk enough to cover. Cook for 15 or 20 minutes, or until the potatoes are well done and the sauce thick and creamy. It is necessary to stir the potatoes frequently to prevent sticking. The starch in the potatoes thickens the sauce.
